U.N. Officials Count 300 Dead In Kasai Province Fighting

Soviets Supply 100 Trucks, 10 Planes to Congo

Senate Opposition Heads Warn Premier Against Dictatorship

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Opposition to Premier Patrice Lumumba's swing toward leftist dictatorship mounted today as he pressed his campaign to stamp out rebellion in the eastern Congo.

As U. N. officials counted nearly 300 dead in Kasai Province fighting, reports reached here that the Soviet Union had stepped up its aid to Lumumba by providing him cargo planes.

Some of the 10 Soviet 114 planes that arrived in Stanleyville have been repainted with the words "Congo Republic" on their sides, these reports said. Stanleyville, capital of Oriental Province in the northeast, is Lumumba's chief base of operations in the eastern Congo. About 100 Soviet trucks already are in the interior.

Locked In Battle

At last report Lumumbas' Congolese army was locked in a see-saw battle with tribal supporters of Kasai secessionist leader Albert Kalonji. The fighting was centered around Bakwanga, capital of Kalonji's so-called "mineral state."

Here in the Senate, which meets with far less than full membership, angry opposition members demanded that Lumumba cancel all the decrees restricting fundamental freedoms. They warned against dictatorship.

They even drew some support from Sen. S. Romandeke, a government senator who urged the government not to issue decrees withouut consulting Parliament. While criticizing the opposition's cries of "communism and dictatorship," Romandeke said Lumumba should not close opoposition newspapers but impose censorship instead.

Senators Complain

The senators complained they did not even have copies of Lumumba's decrees closing newspapers and clamping rigid controls on political meetings and demonstrations.

The opposition fight in the Senate was led by Sen. Syrille Adoula, a member of the Puna—National Unity party—whose president, Jean Bolikango, was arrested and sent to Leopoldville's military prison. Adoula angrily declared that "When freedom is finished, other things benga — dictatorship.' '

"Now that we are free, we are returning to the methods we condemned in our fight for freedom. Each of you should examine your conscience and accept your responsibilities.' '

Because of the chaotic conditions in the Congo, the upper house of Parliament never has had more than 40 of its 78 members present.

Ready To Attack Katanga

As the Senate debated futilely, reports were received that Lumumba also was about to attack Katanga, the southeast Congo province which has declared its independence and allied itself with Kalonji's "mineral state."

An army spokesman from secessionist Katanga province said Lumumba's troops also were poised 20 miles from the Katanga border in Kivu province to the north.

"This could be a greater threat to Katanga than any action and troop movements taking place in the Kasai province right now," the spokesman said.

Some Congolese troops were reported deserting and joining Ka-

Castro Threatens U.S. Naval Base

Cuba to Establish TiesWithRedChina

HAVANA (AP) — Smashing the Wetern Hemisphere's united front against Red China, Fidel Castro announced Friday night that Cuba will establish diplomatic ties with the Peiping regime.

The bearded prime minister broke the news at a rally of hundreds of thousands of cheering followers. He climaxed his fiery speech by dramatically tearing up the Cuba-U.S. mutual defense treaty of 1952 and throwing away the pieces.

Bristling with defiance, Castro declared his revolutionary regime was breaking with the Nationalist Chinese government and switching ties, making Cuba the first nation in the Americas to recognize Communist China.

"From this moment we end our relations with the regime of Chiang Kai-shek," he proclaimed to the cheering crowd massed for a so-called assembly of the Cuban people.

He accused the United States of trying to isolate the Soviet Union and Red China from the Western Hemiphere and served notice his government would establish diplomatic relations with all Communist countries.

The Havana crowd, privately estimated at more than 300,000 but officially billed as more than a million, was whipped to a frenzy for more than three hours as Castro lashed out at the Organization of American States and made his boldest threat yet against the big U.S. naval base at Guantanamo.

The prime minister flatly rejected the OAS foreign ministers' declaration at San Jose, Costa Rica, last week which denounced Soviet-Chinese meedling in this hemisphere.

With the shouted approval of the crowd, he proclaimed instead "the declaration of Havana' ' which pushed this island still closer to the Communist camp.

"The revolutionary government desires to submit to consideration of the people of Cuba," Castro

No End In Sight For Rail Strike

Company Says Union Would Featherbed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad and two striking unions that have halted its operations appeared today to be virtually as far from a settlement of their dispute as when it began.

Statements by the top PRR executives and President Michael J. Quill of the Transport Workers Union showed neither party had budged much in its stand since the strike started Thursday.

With the full effects expected to be felt and to mount rapidly after Labor Day, six governors and 11 mayors in a joint telegram to the disputants said Friday the strike could and should be settled before the weekend was over.

Federal Mediator Francis O'Neill Jr. called separate sessions today of railroad and bargaining teams. He hoped to lay the groundwork for another joint meeting and perhaps, a meeting of the top executives of the PRR, TWU and the System Federation, another nonoperating union joining in the strike with the TWU.

Since the strike against the nation's largest railroad began Thursday there have been no joint sessions, despite the almost continuous intervention of Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia, the city in which the PRR plays a vital economic role.

But, as the nations' largest railroad, the PRR strike effects also were being felt from New York to St. Louis and the first complaints of delayed freight shipments were being heard.

Quill said Friday he was "under terrific pressure' to get a quick settlement. But he said the TWU wouldn't budge from its demands for a "scope rule" (spelling out

Has Accident-Free Record

32-Year 'Haul' Is Ended by Greenford School Bus Driver

By LARRY QUINN

"Watch your step!" has been said and repeated thousands of times over the last 32 years by Myron Roller of Greenford in admonshing school children to use caution when entering and leaving his school buses.

But he will say it no more.

Roller, a fixture in the Greenford schools' bus routes for more than three decades, retired from driving with the start of this school year.

His career, extending back to 1928, is probably one of the longest in the area, considering that school buses are relative innovations of American school systems.

In that first year, and every year since with the exception of the 1959-60 school year, Roller has had the two-fold responsibility of driving and maintaining his bus. For 31 years, he not only drove the buses, but also owned them.

In 1959, he quit the contract bus routing and took over just driving. However, at the close of the last school year, he decided his health couldn't stand up long under the pressure of handling 140 children a day, prompting his decision to retire.

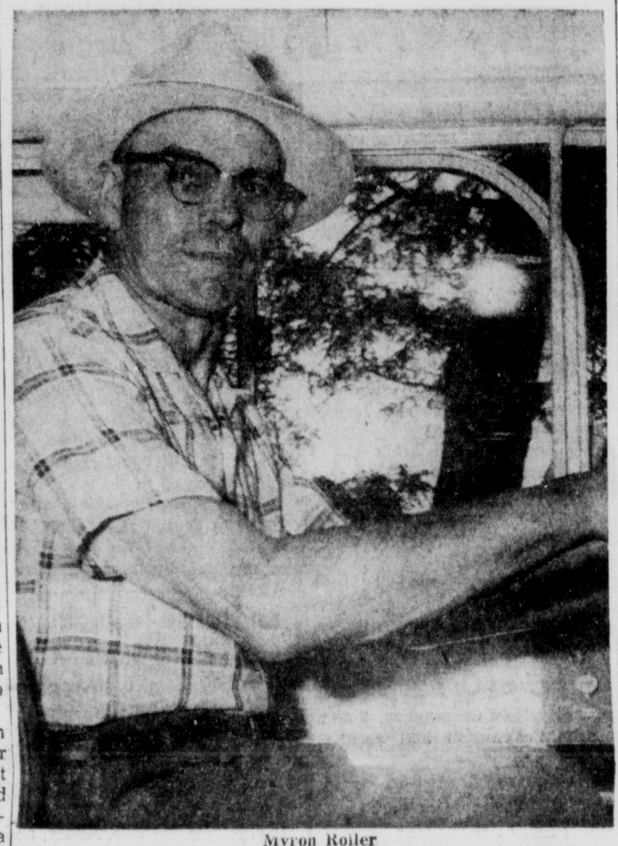

The last bus he drove, a modern 72-passenger vehcle, was a far cry from the first. He recalled that in 1928, he owned an old Ford bus which would carry 20 passengers. A year later he bought a 40 passenger carrier. The school bus route in those days ran about 40 miles, with two bus runs.

Last year, he traveled 70 miles a day in the system's bus, he said, noting that in addition to his run, Greenford also had four others.

In all his years of driving, the bus, Roller's record is accident-free. Proud of this record but not boastful, he remembers that years ago some of the county roads were in treacherous shape. For example, he cites the Millville Hill which has been part of his route throughout the 32 years. Prior to the reconstruction and rerouting of the roadway, the hill was far more dangerous than it is today.

Besides being dangerous, roads in the last 30 years were also

Proposes Issue Be Placed on Election Ballot

Cites Objections; Urges Council Not To Override Veto

The city income tax ordinance, passed Aug. 23 by City Council, was vetoed Friday night by Mayor Dean Cranmer.

In a prepared statement to Council, the mayor declared he felt the income tax measure should be taken to the voters and urged "for the general welfare of Salem" that Council "not override my veto."

The statement was issued last night at what should have been a special Council meeting called Friday morning by the mayor. However, only four councilmen attended the session: Arthur Hanna, Harold Astry, Ralph Zimmerman and Albert Lesch.

10-Day Period Must Elapse

Before the veto can be overridden, if Council deems it necessary to do so, a 10-day time period must elapse from the date of the veto. Since the veto message was dated Sept. 1, Council may act on the measure on Sept. 11, which is a Sunday. Overriding thereto will require a two thrds vote of all members of Council.

The income tax ordinance places a tax of one half of one per cent on city incomes throughout a 15-month period commencing Oct. 1.

The mayor's statement said he was not opposed to the idea of an income tax, but that he was opposed to this particular one.

Among the points of dispute are:

Says Yield Too Great

The yield of the tax. The mayor said he felt the $200,000 was more than was needed to fulfill the city's needs. He said 25 per cent of that amount would suffice.

The fee of J. Emerson Davis & Co. of Youngstown, city tax consultant. The mayor did not say what he thought the fee should be but said he proposed figure of $875 a month for a year is too high.

The salary of the deputy auditor. This salary he also thinks was set too high at $5,000. The mayor said his figure is out of proportion "according to the city scale."

Absence of a street weight ordinance. This was proposed by the mayor many months ago as a possble source of revenue. Council still has the proposal under consideration but at last report, was letting action on the matter up to the mayor.

Asks Quarterly Reports

The annual report of proceeds from the auditor. This, the mayor said, should be made quarterly just as tax payments will be made quarterly.

Raises for city employes. The mayor said that since Council has given raises "for reasons of their own and with complete disapproval of the people," he would consider very seriously "meritorious raises" where they are indicated worthwhile.

In his closing remarks on the ordinance, Mayor Cranmer stated that he made an election promise not to favor an income tax unless it was brought to a vote of the people. He said he proposed his earlier "trial income tax for a six-month period" because he felt that was in accord with the public's wish.

Exchange Sharp Words

Before the meeting got underway, a hassle over what constitued a legal quorum ended up in a sharp, exchange of words between Councilman Zimmerman and City Solicitor James D. Primm.

Convict Riot Threatened In Minnesota

STILLWATER, Minn. (AP) — Two Minnesota National Guard companies were mobilized early today as 100 rebellious convicts threatened a riot at the Minnesota State Prison.

The troops were ordered by Gov. Orville L. Freeman after the men had refused to return to their cells and spent the night milling about the recreation compound.

Col. John Montgomery of Minneapolis said companies at Rochester and Red Wing had been put under arms. Some troops already were reported concentrated at the Stillwater armory.

The rebels started their demonstration after a recreaion period Friday night, although some 900 others returned to their cells without incident. The sprawling, walled grounds hold about 1,100.

'Officially Begins' Campaign

Kennedy Says Ike's Is 'Stand-Still Philosophy'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy said today the balance of world power is shifting and the nation must "start moving again" under a new Democratic president.

In what he called the "official beginning" of his campaign in the home state of his opponent, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Democratic nominee assailed President Eisenhower and what he called the "stand-still philosophy' of the Republicans.

"A' do-nothing party will not do," he said in a speech prepared for an airport rally. "Four more years of a Republican president blocking action by a Democratic Congress will not do.

"What we need—what we seek—what this campaign is intended to bring is action instead of drift—leadership, not salesmanship—and dedication, in place of mediocrity.'

Kennedy flew to California after campaigning in New England Friday. At Portland, Maine, he got a rousing reception from homecoming crowds on a downtown street.

Police had to help him push his way through a broadcasting studio for a TV news conference, and Kennedy remarked "We're hopeful of Maine in November."

He went to Portland by way of Boston in his home state of Massachusetts and Manchester, N.H. At each stop he told his audiences New England's economic problems could be solved by a Democratic president.

By jet he sped to this bay city after a brief rest in Washington. And from here he will fly to Alaska for a swift round of campaign talks in the 49th state. He plans to speak at the State Fair in Palmer and Anchorage tonight.

It didn't take Ohio long to rack up the first traffic fatalities of the 78-hour Labor Day holiday weekend.

The Associaed Press began its tabulation of accidental deaths at 6 p.m. Friday, and 2½ hours later, within the space of minutes, a 6-year-old boy and a 17-year-old motorcyclist were killed in central and southern Ohio.

Then, at 10 p.m., another youth died in a one-car crash in northern Ohio. And a fourth died in Lima at 2 a.m. Saturday.

Those were the only four fatalities recorded as Ohio started its first full day of the holiday weekend. The tabulation of deaths ends midnight Monday.

The dead 6-year-old was Jeffrey Pruden, who apparently ran in front of a car at Lockbourne Air Force Base near Columbus where he lived with his parents, T. Sgt. and Mrs. George Pruden. He was their only child.

At about the same time, but more than 100 miles away, the motorcyclist, Thomas A. Sherrill, met death four miles east of his hometown of Batavia in Clermont County. The Ohio Highway Patrol said the youth was turning his CHURCH GETTING READY FOR OPENING — The Southeast Friends Church, which will seat 300, is nearing completion on Franklin Ave. Major work to be done, according to the Rev. George Robinson, pastor, includes painting the interior, landscaping and installation of pews. The painting and landscaping are to be done by the congregation, he said. Constructed on a two-acre lot, the church's main features are its sand finish brick, its laminated arch interior and spacious basement, adequate for housing 12 classrooms. It is hoped that in the future a Fellowship Hall can be constructed at the rear of the lot. Over-all cost of the church project including property and building is about $55,000, the Rev. Robinson said. He noted financial assistance was given by the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends. General contractor was Sam Rea, Jr.

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Sunset Above Galilee

Sometimes in this life we experience memorable, even unforgetable days. To them we return in memory and from them draw enduring inspiration.

This has been such a day for me. As I write these lines I sit on Mount Cana above the city of Safad in Israel. This city, perched atop a high mountain overlooking the Sea of Galilee, is said to be the "city set on a hill" which cannot "be hid." And no doubt it is for it shows clearly from the plain and the lake shore far below. Jesus must have looked up at it as He sought to illustrate a point. He wove it forever into the immortal language of the spirit.

Dr. Peale

From the balcony where I sit, the panorama of a lifetime is unfolded. There, blue and serene, lies the lake around whose shores were spoken the words of life. Brooding off to the right in the gathering twilight is the rounded dome of Mount Tabor where Deborah and Sisera battled in ages gone.

THREE THOUSAND feet below on the shoreline, six hundred feet below sea level, is Magdala, one of the most wicked cities of the past, from which came Mary Magdalene, from whom evil was cast out by the Saviour, so that forever afterward she should be a symbol of the redemptive power of Jesus of Nazareth. Beyond lies Tiberius, named for an emperor of Rome. To the left is the famed city of Capernaum, where centered so much of Jesus' ministry and whose majestic ruins eloquently proclaim its greatness brought low as He said it would be.

And this incredibly panorama is filled out by the mount on which was preached the greatest sermon of all time; by another gentle slope where five thousand were once fed; and by a huge rock washed by the sea. Simon Peter, an unstable man, was to become through faith in Christ strong like that very rock which Jesus noticed as He spoke about how weak men may become strong.

The sun is now setting as it has for untold centuries, sending a long golden shaft of light which turns the hills of Jordan and Syria on the other side into ineffable radiance. I turn to my open Bible and read, "Now when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto him; and he laid his hands on every one of them, and healed them." (Luke 4:40).

Down there along the Sea of Galilee in the silvery mists filtering into the afterglow, I feel that I can almost see that tall athletic figure, clad in flowing robes of white, as He moves among the throngs that have always followed Him. I watch Him as He lays His hands upon all the sick, those who are ill of body, mind or soul. There He walks, giving them new life in this world and showing them the way to life eternal.

IT IS A tremendous experience to sit here reading from St. Matthew and St. Luke one reference after another to all the great things that Jesus said and did down there on that seashore of Galilee. Never again shall I be able to read these noble words without recalling this summer evening in the city set on a hill which cannot be hid.

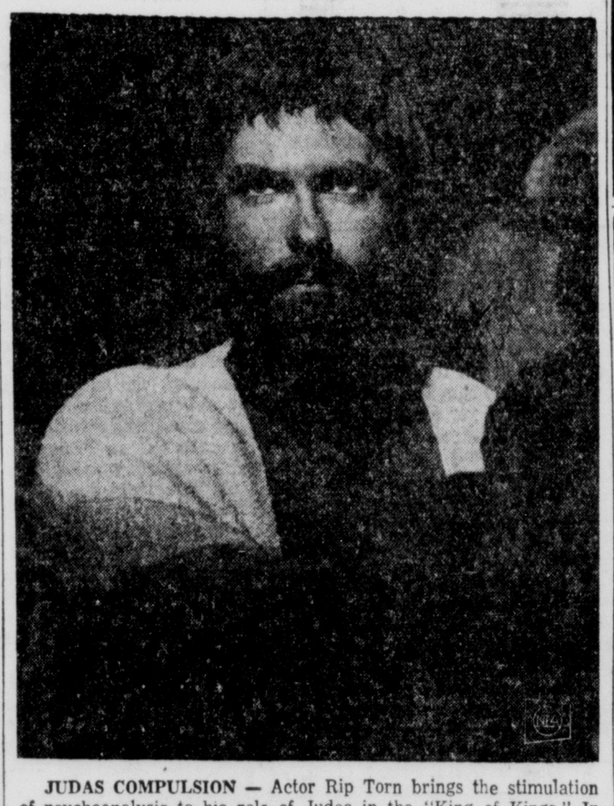

At such a time and place one thinks some rather penetrating thoughts about both the world and oneself. In the little area of the earth from this sea to Jerusalem and the River Jordan were stated the most basic truths known to man. But nearly two thousand years later we have not yet accepted these truths as our way of life. And that is just the trouble.

This afternoon I drove through the Valley of Armageddon, which the Bible says will witness the last great battle between good and evil. What a significant and startling thought: unless we accept and really live by the truths of Galilee, we shall die by the sinister potential of Armageddon.

THE GOSPEL of Jesus Christ has a curious take-it-or-leave-it quality, as is evidenced by the closing statements of the sermon from that mount which I can in this very moment see in the distance:

"Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house, and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: And the rain descended and floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it."

JUDAS COMPULSION — Actor Rip Torn brings the stimulation of psychoanalysis to his role of Judas in the "King of Kings." In preparation for the betrayer's role, Torn consulted one of the original students of Freud on what—besides the infamous 30 pieces of silver—compelled Judas to betray Christ.

Drivers Have Moral Obligation Over Weekend Holiday

By JULES LOH
Associated Press Writer

What doth it profit a man, so to say, if he gain a few minutes on the highway and suffer the loss of his life.

Or to bring the question more in focus for this Labor Day weekend, do motorists have a moral obligation—apart from the physical risk of police action—to drive safely?

Religious spokesmen say yes.

Their views encompass a Southern Baptist leader's belief that bad driving is "a sin against God" and a Catholic bishop's denial of Christian burial to persons guilty of criminal negligence on the highway.

Nor is the morality idea restricted to religious leaders. The Iowa Department of Public Safety, for example, has a "Safety Sabbath" campaign going—complete with a suggested prayer for motorists.

Foy Valentine of Nashville, Tenn., executive secretary of the Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, points out there also is a positive side to the question.

"To drive recklessly, dangerously, unlawfully or even carelessly," he said, "is to reject the basic Christian revelations concerning the worth of every person."

The Most Rev. Maurice Schexnayder, Catholic bishop of Lafayette, La., takes an admittedly severe approach.

His edict of last July 1, shortly after nine died in an auto accident in his diocese, is believed to be the first of its kind in the nation and applies only to his flock.

The crux of his edict was this: "Drivers of vehicles who are declared by the competent police officials to have been criminally negligent in highway accidents resulting in death to themselves are not to be given Christian burial unless the chancery (bishop's) office has first been consulted and the facts of the case warrant such burial."

Another Catholic bishop, the Most Rev. Ralph L. Hayes, of Davenport, Iowa, has endorsed his state's "Safety Sabbath" campaign to promote safe driving over Labor Day. He said "There is a moral obligation for every automobile driver to observe the rules of safety on the roads."

LUTHERANS BELIEVE...

In two sacraments.

At the outset, it must be clear that a sacrament is a sacred act. It's an act of God upon man.

In order that an act be considered a sacrament in the Lutheran Church, it must possess three things—a command of Christ, a heavenly promise, an earthly element connected with His Word.

Therefore, only two acts fall into the category of a sacrament, namely, baptism and holy communion.

Baptism was commanded by Christ when He said, "Go ye into all the world, baptising . . ." It has a heavenly promise in that the Bible declares, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." And the earthly element, of course, is water.

Holy communion sometimes is called the Lord's Supper, the Sacrament of the Altar, the Eucharist.

It was commanded by Christ on the night in which He was betrayed, when He instituted it and said, "This do . . ." The promise also comes from His lips—"This is My Body . . . My Blood . . . for the remission of sins." Obviously, the earthly elements are bread and wine.

Lutherans believe that God Himself acts upon them in baptism and holy communion.

Dem Says GOP 'Fixed Payoff'

Claims Seizure of Bank Was for Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A California Democratic congressman charges that "another campaign payoff is being engineered for Richard Nixon" in connection with government seizure of a savings and loan association in his district.

The charge came Friday from Rep. Cecil R. King. He also said the White House itself had become deeply involved in the seizure dispute, and that a settlement of the case had been "'vetoed' 'by David W. Kendall, special counsel to President Eisenhower.

The King charges brought instant denial from the staff of Vice President Nixon and others mentioned by the congressman.

Robert H. Finch, Nixon's campaign manager, said "The whole King handout is absolute nonsense. It is pure political tissue. Cecil King must think he is still running against me for political office.' 'Finch ran unsuccessfully against King for Congress in 1952.

King's statement, prepared for publication in the Congressional Record, said:

1. The Long Beach, Calif., Savings and Loan Assn. was seized by the Federal Home Loan Bank board and that this was "unjustified and irregular.' '

2. A Long Beach law firm headed by Nixon's campaign manager in the area "has been given a lucrative retainer' 'by the Federal Home Loan Bank board. King said the Long Beach firm of Clock, Waestman and Clock was suggested to the board of Finch.

The retainer, King said in his statement, was "political payola.'

"So far this has paid off for Nixon's campaign manager at the rate of almost $4,000 a month," said King.

The head of the Long Beach law firm, John Clock, said King's statement was "ridiculous, false and untrue."

Clock said he has no time for political activity himself. He said a nephew, Henry Clock, recently did some work for a Nixon campaign committee, "but he's not the head of the committee or anything like that.' '

Clock said his firm had only a minor part of the legal work involved, and the "modest' fee was not on a retainer basis—"if we don't do anything, we don't get anything.' '

At the time it took over the savings and loan outfit, the Home Loan Bank board said the association "has a mangement which is unsafe and unfit to manage a federal savings and loan association, in that its management has caused the association to violate law and regulations and engage in unsafe or unsound operation."

Albert J. Robertson, chairman of the bank board, said of King's statement: "Some of the essential, bare facts are correct, but the implications and sequence are not."

The seizure of the Long Beach firm last April 22 has been investigated by a House subcommittee headed by Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif), who also has criticized the bank board's action.

where are they Going?

A familiar sight . . . men with briefcases daily throng airports all over the nation, winging their way from one place to another. But where, really, are they going?

In this busy age of appointments, rush hours, and summit meetings, we search for success, for more money, for a better future, for a variety of things. Yet, like so many mid-twentieth century Americans, the harder we seek the less we find.

We need a job, a purpose, a home, a family. But also, we need a church. We need to go into that church to reaffirm our faith both in God and in our fellow beings. Only then does our quest — and our ultimate destination — begin to make sense.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Poor Way to Run a Railroad

This is the first time the Pennsylvania Railroad ever has been shut down in its entirety.

But this is also the first time in its 114 years that the whole Pennsy system has gone to the mat with Michael J. Quill, the Irish-born, blackthorn-bearing organizer of the Transport Workers Union of America. Up to now, the railroad's management has encountered Quill only in his native habitat, New York City, where his slugging tactics have made him the scourge of unionism in that metropolis.

This is obviously the kind of standoff in negotiations between management and union that is not going to yield to any of the treatments prescribed by negotiators, commentators, critics and moralists.

What is going on between Mike Quill's nonoperating union and the railroad is not an issue to be settled according to a formula. This is a battle to see who is going to have the upper hand in running railroad.

BEFORE THE BATTLE is over, Mike Quill will have won his way, or the people who kept him from getting it will bear the bruises of a free-swinging encounter with a hurly-burly opponent. It is not disparagement of the TWU president to point this out. It is the reputation he has acquired by many demonsrations of ruthless bargaining for what he intends to get. He is proud of his reputation. It helps him in his work.

What now is to be learned is whether the Pennsylvania Railroad's employes and perhaps the railroad, itself, are ripe to be picked off by the most dynamic personality in transportation unionism, next to James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union. Quill is AFL-CIO. Hoffa isn't.

The imediate effect of the stoppage on the Pennsy, of course, will be a vast increase in the trucking business. That will be right up Mr. Hoffa's alley.

But it will not be up the railroad spur of the independent rail unions and least of all up the spur of the aristocracy of the rail unions—the operating unions. The men who run the trains are not going to be happy about being held off their jobs indefinitely by a deadlock with Mike Quill, whose men do not run trains but are demanding the right to run a railroad.

THE OUTCOME of their effort is open guesswork. There are no issues that can be settled objectively by outsiders. There are apparently no issues that can be settled objectively by insiders, either.

This is a contest for power at the expense of tying up the country's largest railroad and subsidizing its principal competitor, the trucking industry.

It is not going to be good for the Pennsy, and it may not be good for the TWU. Certainly it is not going to be good for the other rail unions and their thousands of members. Or for the country.

But it undoubtedly will be good for Michael J. Quill. He can't lose.

See You Tuesday?

It has been our idea for a long time that scare-stories about holiday traffic hazards miss the point.

The only motorists they scare are the ones who never do foolish things anyway. The daredevils and chowderheads who cause accidents and give holiday traffic a black eye pay no attention to scare-stories. If they were capable of seeing the error of their ways, they would have seen the error long before the latest spatter of scare-stories about holiday traffic.

Another idea we've had is that the stories accent the wrong thing. They make it appear that auto traffic is the greatest danger because it accounts for the majority of deaths. On Independence Day weekend this year, auto traffic killed 432 in a total of 696. That was more than 60 per cent.

But bear in mind that boating alone accounted for 34 deaths and plain ordinary drowning accounted for another 121 deaths. Together, these water dangers killed more than a third as many as were killed in auto traffic, although the people who went boating and swimming would be only a tiny fraction of the vast total that went motoring.

While resolving not to make summer's last fling your last fling, too, remember that 22 per cent of all the people killed during the last holiday weekend would have been alive if they had stayed clear of deep water. It is the most dangerous thing that people do in the pursuit of pleasure.

Making sure your friends are speaking to you next Tuesday, not viewing the remains. Be especially careful about swimming and boating. Be careful about auto traffic, too, and everything else that might put you among the permanent post-holiday absentees.

Ground Rules For the Debate

It needs to be made clear before the final arrangements for the television debate that will distinguish the 1960 presidential campaigning why newspapers are in favor of the idea.

They do not share in any degree the idea that television has been cutting them out of what used to be a special field of service when it broadcasts political conventions, speeches by politicians and now the first face-to-face discussion of issues by presidential candidates.

Newspapers learned as long ago as the early days of radio that everything which adds to the total amount of public interest and information adds to their own ability to serve their readers. The more people know, the more they want to know.

IT IS AS SIMPLE as the fact there is no point of satiety in human wants. The United States has the world's highest standard of living because its people have learned how many things there are to want; they want more. An Australian aborgine wants nothing because he never had anything.

Television has made politics more meaningful to more Americans. Contrary to the snitfish criticsms of dilettantes who wouldn't like the Battle of Armageddon in color if they had exclusive viewing rights on a closed circuit, it has been doing a first-rate job of bringing the people and their system of government closer together.

It was easy for people to watch the party conventions of 1956 and 1960 on television. The newspapers thus were left free to do more reporting in depth and detail. They not only had the time but their readers had the knowledge to make such reporting worthwhile.

WHEN THE 1960 television debates occur, they will be covered fully by newspapers. There will be ready-made acceptance for the coverage by millions of readers who saw the actual event.

It is not too soon to guess there will be an all-time high in voting totals this year, thanks to an all-time high in popular interest. It is not too soon to predict that the ultimate effect of televised politics may be to quiet America's worries about voter apathy.

Newspapers have worked persistently to fight apathy throughout the life span of the republic. They welcome all the help they can get.

The only ground rules for the debate they hope will be enforced is the classical rule of politics: No holds barred.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Fidel Castro is under medical care and it appears one case where the doctor had better be satisfactory. Probably daily dialogue:

Nurse: The doctor is here.

Fidel: Have him positively identified.

Nurse: He is the one who has been coming regularly.

Fidel: That's why I am so nervous. Incidentally, did you give these last pills a laboratory test?

Nurse: They are what you have been taking all along.

Fidel: Then the secret police have been negligent.

Nurse: You look in the pink.

Fidel: A lot of people say I look in the RED.

Nurse: Do you sleep well?

Fidel: I have had dreams. Last night I dreamed I saw some goodness in Americans. The night before I had a horrible nightmare in which I went eight hours without abusing Washington. One night I even dreamed Cuba had a free press back.

Nurse: The doctor says your dreams mean nothing.

Fidel: He is opening himself to charges of treason.

Nurse; Are you feverish?

Fidel: I am always feverish. It is a requirement of the revolution.

Nurse: You're jumpy today.

Fidel: When I'm not jumpy I'm off form.

Nurse: You have got to calm down and not get excited.

Fidel: That is typical capitalistic propaganda. I am convinced my illness is due to Yankee germs. They are flying them from Miami.

Nurse: What makes you think they are Yankees?

Fidel: Anything that bothers me I blame the Yanks.

Nurse: Your brother is home from Russia. That's good.

Fidel: Sometimes I wonder.

Nurse: You are getting lots of get-well cards.

Fidel: What are the ones you are tearing up?

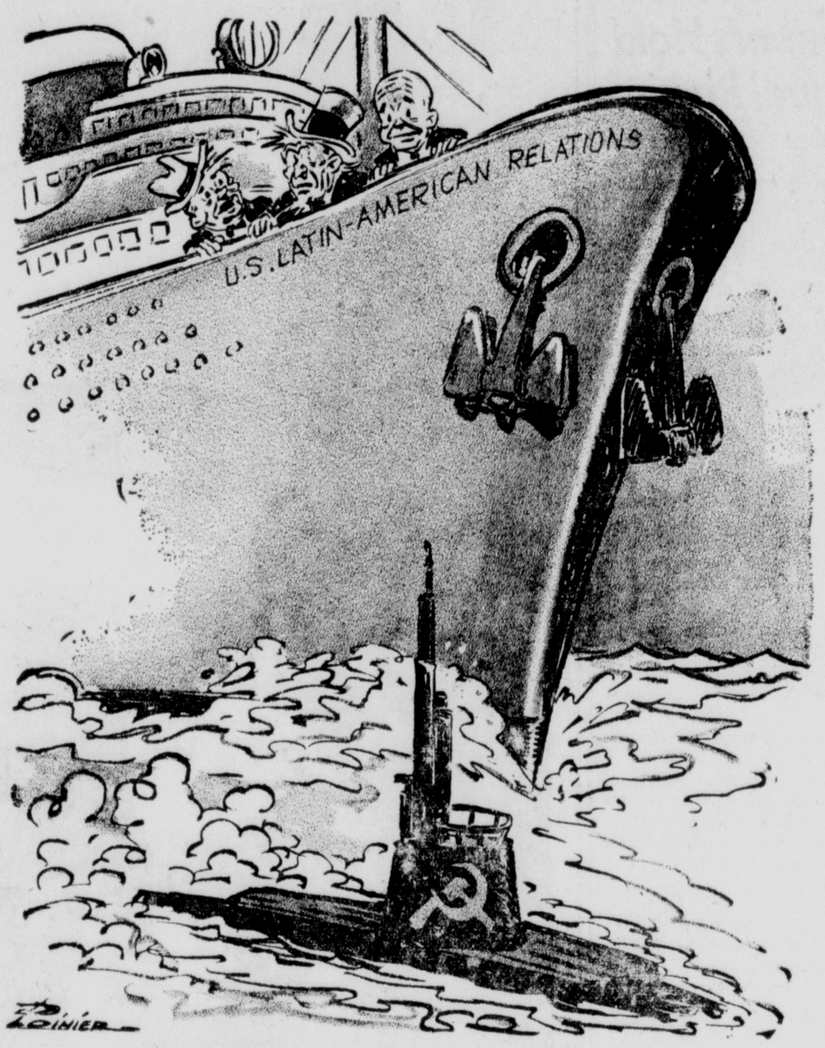

Nurse: THOSE ARE GET LOST CARDS!!!

PREMIER LUMUMBA of the Congo is the first with "U.N. Go Home" banner.

Eskimos in far northern Alaska will get first bowling alley. ("Nanook of the Ten-pins"?) There will be parking space for dog-sleds, of course. Eskimo wives will register complete suspicion when husband gets home late and answers "Where have you been?" with, "it was my bowling night."

Sherman Billingsley of the Stork Club is suing Actors Equity and asking five million dollars. (That's without the dessert.) He charges that the actors association urged members to boycott his place because of labor troubles. Up to now we didn't know anybody, least of all the proprietor, ever asked for "ham" at the Stork Club.

What's That?

Molotov's Secret

By BERNARD KAPLAN

PARIS

Western authorities would give a great deal to know what Vyacheslav Molotov has on Nikita Khrushchev, his onetime comrade-in-arms.

Official informants in Paris take it for granted that the old Stalin lieutenant and ex-foreign minister was shifted from his post as Soviet envoy to Outer Mongolia because he was encouraging Chinese aspirations in that remote but increasingly sensitive region.

Diplomats with wide experience in Soviet affairs find this less intriguing or surprising than the fact that Khrushchev should have once again found another job for his aging foe who now has been at least twice guilty of conspiring against him.

Molotov's new appointment as Soviet representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna is not regarded as significant in itself.

The Russians do not look upon such international bodies as of much importance and the post is probably rated a harmless sinecure for the 70-year-old former politburo figure.

THE KEY POINT is, however, that of all the major rivals and opponents whom Khrushchev has toppled on his march to single leadership, Molotov alone has been compensated with jobs of even titular importance. Molotov alone has been assigned to posts abroad.

Western officials are increasingly convinced that the marked difference in treatment accorded him compared to Malenkov, Kaganovitch, Bulganin and other top "anti-party" men cannot be accidental.

Though Molotov is known to have been in some respects a more bitter and uncompromising foe of Khrushchev than any of the rest, he was treated more gently than the other fallen titans.

This is unlikely to be the result of his past or present popularity among the Soviet people, western experts think.

Nor can it be readily ascribed to his potential strength as a rallying point for the neo-Stalinists whom Khrushchev evidently has not succeeded in rendering wholly powerless.

Molotov is the best-known of the deposed leaders to most foreigners. But never, either before or after Stalin's day, was he the most consequential.

Both Malenkov and Kaganovitch for many years took precedence over him in the Soviet hierarchy.

If it is Russian public opinion which worres Khrushchev, Malenkov was far more popular than the grim old foreign minister.

YET MALENKOV and Kaganovitch, whose protege Khrushchev once was, were relegated to the most obscure and humiliating posts while Molotov—his hatred of the present Soviet leader unabated—goes from embassy to embassy enjoying the rank and privileges of an ambassador.

Western authorities reason that the difference is a personal one. Molotov, his unrivaled length of service at the highest levels of Soviet and Communist party administration, might quite easily be in possession of information others do not have.

All during Khrushchev's rigorous 30-year climb to power, Molotov had ready access to the most secret dossiers.

In other words, experienced informants regard it as a highly reasonable guess that he "has something" on the Soviet Premier; something which is damaging enough to keep Molotov from being utterly disgraced despite his unceasing opposition to Khrushchev's policies and something which makes the latter prefer to keep him out of Russia, perhaps as long as he lives.

Experts agree that Khrushchev's past is a murky one. There are unfilled gaps of which little or nothing is know. It could be that Molotov is capable of filling in at least one of them.

Cross Current Rates

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cross currents in interest rates are being watched closely in Wall Street — almost as closely as the eddying of stock prices in a market that can be interpreted in various ways depending on what part of it you are watching.

Stock traders watch the interest rates ups and downs seeking a clue to where stocks may be going.

Earlier in the year, short-term interest rates turned weak and money became definitely easier. This was partly due to the slack trend in business and partly to a change in policy by the Federal Reserve Board.

Easier money spread to long-term issues, such as corporate bonds, and their yields fell as their prices rose. Stocks looked more attractive.

But while money turned easier and interest rates fell elsewhere, bank charges on loans to business held rigidly at 5 per cent and higher.

Then the banks gave in at last to federal prodding and brought their lowest charge down to 4½ per cent. They did so as short-term interest rates, led by yields of U.S. Treasury bills, were rising and showing every sign of continuing to rise for a good part of the time in the next month or two at least.

The bank rate cut also came when interest rates were rising in Western Europe — causing a spread that tempts some investment money to leave the United States.

Some of the cross currents in interest rates can be explained by seasonal trends. But some is due to a change in borrowing habits.

This makes it all the harder to evaluate the effect on business of the lowering of bank charges on loans. Theoretically, this should lead corporations to borrow more, at the lower rates, and expand their activities. This would give the economy the desired push off dead center.

But many observers aren't so sure that there will be very much of a shove this time.

Business may not want to borrow more, even at lower rates. It depends on how fall prospects shape up.

And many firms can still find cheaper money outside the banks. They have been issuing commercial paper backed by their own credit records. Or they've turned to the long-term bond market as interest costs fell.

And many corporations have been able to raise needed money for every-day activities within their own business, as depreciation write-offs rose, as earlier expansion plans were shelved fo a time and as cost cutting schemes took hold.

Loyalty Outdated?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Public Crusade For Patriotism Needed

Is loyalty becoming out of date or are the recent defectors from the United States to Russia merely a group of frustrated individuals with perhaps a psychotic condition?

David Lawrence

Or is there a mood of complacency in America on the matter of internal subversion and a tendency to label all efforts to expose such subversion as just "McCarthyism"?

These questions bother a good many people inside and outside the government nowadays.

The latest piece of information that gives rise to the discussion comes in a document just released by the Department of State through Sen. Kenneth Keating of New York, a member of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, who put it in the Congressional Record last week.

It tells about Dr. Maurice H. Halpern, a former Boston University professor and wartime intelligence officer, who now is behind the Iron Curtain "working for the Soviet government."

He is one of the individuals who made the headlines in 1953 when he was fired from his job at Boston University for refusing to answer questions by a congressional committee about his connections with the Communists.

Prof. Halperin and his wife on July 15 asked the American Embassy at Moscow to renew their passports. Congress has been so lax about passing the necessary legislation to regulate the issuance of passports that it is possible these passport renewals will have to be issued to the Halperins and they then can travel in Europe and elsewhere as they please.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT was advised that Prof. Halperin, who is an expert on Latin American affairs, told the embassy that he was doing "research" on underdeveloped countries for the Soviet Academy of Sciences, which is "directly subordinate to the Soviet Council of Ministers."

The Halperins have been in Russia since December, 1958, and went there by way of Mexico, where a case of deportation against them for alleged Communist activities had been under consideration by the Mexican government.

Incidentally, Prof. Halperin helped Mr. and Mrs. Alfred K. Stern to escape from Mexico after the latter had been indicted by a U.S. Federal Grand Jury on a charge of conspiring to obtain and transmit security information from the United States to Russia.

Previously the State Department says, the Sterns had obtained fraudulent Paraguayan passports which had ben declared void by that country's government.

The State Department document further reveals that Halperin in the 1940's had supplied a Russian espionage agent with information "including mimeographed bulletins and reports prepared by the U.S. Office of Strategic Services on a variety of topics as well as excerpts from State Department cables to which he had access."

As for the Sterns, they are university graduates and well-to-do. Mrs. Stern is the daughter of a former American ambassador to Germany.

Within the last two weks it was discovered that William H. Martin, 29, and Bernon F. Mitchell, 31, both of whom are bachelors and Navy veterans, had left the National Security Agency, where they were employed, and gone to Mexico and then to Havana prior to their disappearance, presumably behind the Iron Curtain.

The NSA is the top military code agency of the U.S. government.

HERE ARE TWO young Americans who had the advantage of good homes and good educations.

What circumstances led to their mysterious behavior?

As one high official puts it, they may be part of a group of individuals who become frustrated in their jobs and are lured in various ways to do things they would never do if they led normal lives.

There is a band of strange individuals in Moscow of which Messrs. Burgess and MacLean, the two defectors from the British diplomatic service, are the leaders. Once defectors in the intelligence category get to Moscow, they become part of the Burgess-MacLean circle.

Then there are the leaders of the Communist party in various countries where such parties are treated like any other political faction. Also, there are the scientists who agitate along the Communist line on various public issues and insist that their views are in the interest of "world peace" and that "world ctizenship" requires a superior sort of allegeiance.

Some gullible Americans are roped into signing public petitions desired by the Communists.

It is significant that the effort to agitate on certain questions plays into the hands of the Communists. This leads to bolder steps, such as a drive to abolish the House Committe on Un-American Activities.

There are conscientious and loyal Americans who want to see an end to the committee's work but somehow some of these mass meetings and demonstrations seeking that objective turn out to be inspired by Communists, who have the most to gain by a laxity in the investigating of internal subversion.

SOME PERSONS, too, sincerely believe loyalty oaths and affidavits by students receiving government scholarships are an improper requirement but one wonders if more and more emphasis should not really be placed in the schools and colleges on just what is meant by loyalty to one's country.

Some people think of it as a "reactionary" doctrine or as an abstraction. Others are indifferent to the whole debate and regard it as academic — as if there were no danger from the Communists inside America. Maybe it's time for a public crusade for loyalty and for patriotism.

Speaking of Education

By TRUMAN TWILL

Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover fascinates me with his criticism of education. I cannot get it through my head why this brilliant man who says so much that's true never gets around to saying the one true thing that would clear up what he is talking about.

His complaint against U.S. education is that it has become a prisoner of mediocrity. Too many cooks with too many hum drum ideas have spoiled the academic broth.

Adm. Rickover wants to switch the emphasis to quality education. He wants to let the academic race horses run as fast and as far as they can, instead of teaming them with draft horses, jumping horses, walking horses and circus horses.

He is tired of invidious comparisons between children n this country and children in other countries, particularly the Soviet Union. They make their educated boys and girls look like geniuses by comparison because they handpick them, separating the most educable from the least educable.

Therefore, he argues, why not do the same thing in the United States? It isn't that we don't have race horses but only that we refuse to give the race horses we do have a chance to show how fast they can run, with a skilled driver laying on the whip.

This is where Adm. Rickover, in my opinion, needs to say the one true thing that would clear up his point of view on education.

He needs to say that education is the way it is in the United States because it reflects the people who pay for it. It cannot set arbitrarily high standards and insist on their being met at any cost because that would jeopardize the broad permissive tax base that makes education possible.

Parents and guardians of children who would be unable to come up to high standard and would be put into educational classifications that would mark them as different in one degree or another from the academic elite would be resentful of educational eliteness.

It is their idea that education in the United States is a right, not a privilege—and they even get peeved when prvate schools set arbitrary standards and exclude applicants who cannot meet them. If public schools were to practice the kind of quality education Hyman Rickover advocates, they never would be able to pass another tax levy, or land another multi-million-dollar appropriation from a state legislature.

Only within such limits as attract no attention to what they are doing can school systems that depend on public support separate race horses from the draft horses, with a view to making each kind better. And even private schools must move cautiouly, lest they alienate wealthy alumni whose children and nephews and nieces might be unable to pass muster when they apply for admission.

There is a deep mistrust, moreover, of putting all the nation's egg in the basket of academic elitness, because many a student who looked like a dud and would have been weeded out of a group tagged for intensive training has turned out to have invaluable qualities of leadership.

I wish Adm. Rickover would quit talking about what's wrong with education and concentrate on what he thinks is wrong about the system that supports and shapes education.

Miss Linda Davis Becomes Bride of F. B. Henderson

Given in marriage by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn L. Davis of 397 E. 8th St., Miss Linda Lou Davis became the bride of Freddie Burnette Henderson Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First Christian Church.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony were Dr. Homer Courtney, retired, of Lakeside, a great uncle of the bride; and the Rev. Robert Courtney, minister of the Euclid Ave. First Methodist Church, Cleveland, the bride's cousin.

Vases of white gladioli enhanced the illuminated Communion table. The altar, banked with palms, was lighted by tapers in twin seven-branch candelabra.

Mrs. Elwood Hammell Jr. sang "Because," "Always," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer as the couple knelt at the altar. Mrs. Ruth Berry presided at the organ for the nuptial music.

Satin binding edged the circlet neckline of the brides ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace. Scalloped edges of the sleeves matched the hemline of the skirt. A lace plateau with seed pearl trim held the bridal veil of silk illusion. The bride carried a white Bible topped by a white orchid combined with white carnations and showered with ribbons. The pearl and diamond necklace she wore was a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Linda Lou Lamb of Columbus was maid of honor, and Miss Lois Schaefer of Salem was the bridesmaid. Their identical ballerina-length gowns of romance blue silk organza were styled with circlet necklines and wide fitted midriffs with satin trim above the bouffant skirts. They wore theater veils and crowns of matching blue starred with crystal beads. Their colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations were showered with blue ribbons.

Roy Lester Henderson of Columbus was his brother's best man, and Tom Lease, a former classmate of the couple, was groomsman. Kenneth Beall, a cousin of the bride, and Donald Doyle ushered.

Mrs. Davis wore a Wedgewood blue brocade dress complemented by a white feather profile hat, navy blue accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

The reception was held in Fellowship Hall. The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth. The four-tiered wedding cake, decorated with blue bells, was topped by a bride and bridegroom figurine standing beneath a bower of white roses. A garland of ivy accented by blue carnations circled the base of the cake, beside which the attendants placed their bouquets.

Serving at the reception were members of the Harris Class of the Christian Church, with Mrs. Bruce Wilson and Mrs. Harold Deitch acting as hostesses.

Mrs. Bruce Rhodes, a cousin of the bride, presided at the guest register. The 250 friends and relatives in attendance were from Columbus, Canton, Warren, Salem, Ashtabula, Cleveland, Toledo, Lisbon, Greenford Hanoverton, Lakeside, Akron, Beloit, Guilford, Winona, New Garden, Alliance and Youngstown; Pittsburgh Pa.; and Denmark, Europe.

The bride and bridegroom are 1959 graduates of Salem High School. Mrs. Henderson is employed as an office clerk by the Eljer Co. Her husband is an apprentice printer, employed by the Salem News.

On their wedding trip, the couple will travel over the Skyline Drive in the Shenandoah Valley. For her going away outfit, the bride chose a grape and black checked dress with white collar, black accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside at 631 E. 9th St.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis were hosts at the rehearsal dinner in the Mural Room at Aldom's Diner in Alliance. Places were set for 16. Gifts were presented to the attendants from the bride and bridegroom.

Ohio River Fish Kill Is 'Worst In Years'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A State official reports that thousands of fish have been killed in the Ohio River in the vicinity of Neville Island.

Dick C. Heil Pittsburgh region sanitary engineer for the State Health Department said the kill is the worst in the Ohio here in several years. Most of the victims are carfish.

Heil said the fish apparently have been killed by a drop in the water's oxygen content, which he said could be due to a combination of hot water and discharge of orginic matter into the river. He said tests showed the river's acidity is normal.

Lisbon Pool to Close After Labor Day

The Sadie Van Fossan Memorial Swimming Pool is expected to close after Labor Day George Nace Jr., head of the Park Commission, said.

Total attendance was greater this year than last, despite the cooler weather.

Pool authorities have pondered the feasibility of keeping the pool open evenings and Saturdays and Sundays during September. The last few years, September has been a warmer month than July and August.

However, the pool manager, Denny Reese, and assistant maager, Tom Brooks, will leave for college soon, and it would be difficult to find suitable replacements for only those hours, Nace said.

With The Patients

Mrs. Mary Donofrio of 270 S. Howard Ave. has entered Alliance City Hospital, where she will undergo surgery Tuesday.

Income Tax

tended that since one of the four councilmen present would have to substitute for president Michael Schuller and for president pro tem, Carl Abe, a legal quorum was not present. Under the law a quorum constitutes a majority of the members elected to Council. However, the codified ordinances make no elaboration on what constitutes a quorum in the event circumstances occur as they did last night.

Solicitor Primm stated that a quorum was present and that the meeting should be held. He indicated his irritaton with Council, which led to an immediate retort from Councilman Zimmerman that he and Council "were tired of you."

This was followed by some words from Primm, and then Councilman Zimmerman arose, stating he was leaving and that he didn't have to listen to anything Primm had to say.

Never Got Off Ground

Before the exchange could go any further, Councilman Arthur Hanna said he felt a quorum was not present, and with this all the councilmen rose, ending the meeting which never got off the ground.

Councilman Astry's final comment was that he couldn't see any reason for calling the meeting in the first place. He said the mayor could have accomplished as much merely by delivering the report to the coucilmen.

The complete text of the mayor's statement follows:

"I am herewith returning to council the Income tax ordinance with my veto, and I hasten to urge Council, for the general welfare of Salem, not to override my veto, I further ask Council to seriously consider my following suggestions and remarks.

"I have submitted to Council an alternate proposition, because although I was committed to a pre-election promise, I have been more well aware of the City's financial needs, more than the members of Council because I am more directly responsible to the needs of the people of the City.

"2. At the first of the year, I did propose a weight ordinance, which would not only save our streets from damage that has been done by trucks but incidently would provide a source of revenue. This was refused by Council for no good reason!

"3. I also was opposed to the proposal of Mr. Davis & Co., not because of his ability but for the reason that certain things in his proposal, like item (1), (2), (3), (4), (6), (Mr. Davis will not prepare the tax forms, but will hire it done. Although I would appreciate his advice on the matter I still feel that this can be done for less money.) (7) (again I would appreciate his advice and supervision but as the printing will be done by an independent firm by bid, again I say this should be no part of a proposal.) (10) (Because the local administration is closer to the press these releases should come from the Auditor's office.)

"4. Although I am in complete disagreement with the price we are supposed to pay Mr. Davis, I am in accord with the survey; the records from other cities prove it valuable.

"5. The auditor's salary being $6,000.00 per year, I feel that the proposed salary for deputy auditor set up at $5,000.00 per year is out of proportion according to our city scale. A policeman or a fireman have a graduating salary, which can work into a full time job.

"6. The treasurer of the city was elected to carry out the duties as outlined by law. The present city treasurer has indicated that he does not wish to assume the obligations imposed on him by the income tax ordinance. What now?

"7. According to Section 8, administration of income tax ordinance item F. states that the city audtor shall make written report to Council annually on all monies collected the preceeding year. I feel that since the money comes in quarterly, Council should be informed the same way.

"8. The budget for 1961 is approximately $256.000. I feel that we do need additional revenue, but not $200,000 a year. I believe that 25 per cent of this amount will be adequate at this time.

"9. In my previous letter to Council I stated: 'No increases in any wages or salaries for any reasons! This Council has seen fit to grant raises on their own, for reasons of their own, and with complete disapproval of the people. Therefore, if any meritorious raises are indicated I would give them very serious consideration.

"10. If Council does feel that $200,000 is needed in the budget will there be any consideration given to property owners as far as street assessments and other tax levies?

"The rumors have been that I am going to veto this ordinance for political reasons only. I should remind you gentlemen that we have been elected because we are in politics. Every politicion's responsibilty should be to answer to the will of the people. I happened to be elected mayor. I made a pre-election promise that I was for an income tax only if voted on by the people of Salem. I feel my alternate proposal was in accord with their wishes. Council has seen fit to disregard it. Therefore my veto means that the question should go to the electors at the earliest time provided by law, then the wishes of the people can be answered."

lonji's secessionists. This appeared to be the case in Bakwanga, the spokesman said, and also at Puputa where a platoon of Congo troops had defected.

U.N. forces have steered clear of the Congo fighting, but a Moroccan unit was forced to fire on a menacing group of armed civilians in Moerbeke near the army base of Thysville in Leopoldville province Friday.

Diplomats feared the U.N. Command could no longer restore order in the chaotic new Republic unless Lumumba's forces were somehow disarmed. This was seen as highly unlikely since the fiery premier is determined to use troops to quell opposition in rebellious Katanga and Kasai provinces.

These observers noted that Lumumba was hewing straight to the line that usually leads to a Communist-style dictatorship. His regime has been suppressing newspapers, banning political meetings and using troops and police to arrest political opposition. Soviet advisors have also been pouring into the Congo in recent weeks.

Members of the Central Parliament meantim e questioned Lumumba's authority to arrest Jean Bolikango, president of the opposition Puna party.

"Lumumba has no regard for the constitution or the law,' 'one of his opponents said. "He is liable to do anything to strengthen his almost dictatorial position.' '

Kennedy

After a breakfast news conference he'll take off again for Detroit.

At San Francisco, Kennedy said his "new frontier" campaign does not promise any easy solutions for American problems.

"For these are harsh times," he said. "The future will not be easier. Our burdens will not lessen. Our enemies will not weaken. But I cannot believe that history will say of our time: 'They were the greatest, richest, strongest nation on earth—but they stood still too long.'

"II believe that history will mark this as a turning-point in the life of our nation and in the pursuit of peace. I believe that with your help—with your efforts, joining the efforts of millions like you all over America—we can make this a time of greatness.' '

Besides driving for Greenford, Roller has also contracted to provide buses with Salem and with Damascus for short periods.

He is currently occupied with farming his famly homestead about a mile and a quarter south of Greenford on the Lisbon Road, and with operating an agricultural custom lime spreading business.

tions commissioner, said after conferring for several hours with Ralph Tahash, acting warden, and guard officers that he still hoped to settle the matter peacefully. He said the guards had been mobilized only to meet any emergency.

Tahash also revealed a new set of demands by the recalcitrants, delivered shortly before 5 a.m. He said Turnbladh agreed with him that two of them were reasonable—the setting up of a prisoners' council and establishment of a law library for the prisoners' use.

While militiamen and prison officials held their strategy confer- no connection, their demonstration ence, guards armed with machine guns, rifles, shotguns and sidearms, maintained close watch on the compound.

The convicts spent the night milling about, occasionally shouting up at the tower guards and pounding on a locked door leading to a prison corridor.

Although the prisoners claimed no connection, their demonstration seemed timed to take advantage of a shaken prison leadership.

Warden Douglas Rigg was ousted three days ago on charges of making excessive withdrawals of food from the prison commissary for his own use last summer.

Castro Move Expected to Tighten OAS

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials hoped today that Fidel Castro's formal clasping of diplomatic hands with Red China would nudge other Latin Countries into fuller realization of Cuba's involvement with the Communist camp.

Castros' announcement with much ballyhoo at a Havana rally that his government was recognizing the Red China regime—and that he would recognize all other Communist regimes, too—came as no particular surprise here.

For months now, the Red Chinese are known to have been sending "technicians,' "cultural visitors' 'and the like to Havana and have set up an expensive propaganda operation there.

With Castro already nestled in Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's lap, it seemed to make little difference to have him nestling with Mao Tze-tung, too.

However, Washington strategists felt that the Cuban premier's act and his defiance toward the Organization of American States could have a salutary effect on other hemisphere countries.

U.S. negotiators at the just-concluded OAS heeting in San Jose, Costa Rica, found some foot-dragging among Latin delegates when it came to being stern toward Castro. The Latin d legates in some cases confided that they themselves felt Castro had gone too far, but that their populaces back home still admired the beaded revolutionary and seemed unaware of any betrayal to communism from his originally widely popular aims.

State Fair Ends Another Year 'In the Black'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state fairgrounds were virtually deserted today. The livestock had been shipped home, the last hot dog had been sold and the midway races were still.

The 1960 Ohio State Fair is over.

And now begins the counting up to see how much money was taken in during the eight-day exposition which ended Friday.

Dick Goodrick, fair information officer, said the fair wound up "in the black" from a financial standpoint. But he said it wont' be until sometime next week when the proceeds are tallied that profit can be assessed.

Paid attendance was up 27,073 over last year, Goodrick reported. A total of 260,624 persons paid admission compared with 233,551 at the 1959 fair.

Latecomers to the fair also were let in free from 6 p.m. to midnight Friday night, when the gates closed.

Cuba

said, "if they agree that the people of Cuba in this free and sovereign assembly agree to establish relations with the popular Republic of (Communist) China."

The crowd roared its approval and burst into chants of "Cuba si, Yankees no."

In taking aim at the U.S. naval base in southeastern Cuba, Castro warned that if the United States "engages in ruining the economy of our country and attacking us, then we will rally the people and demand withdrawal of their naval forces."

But Castro said "we will never attack the base."

Lashing out at the U.S.-Cuban Mutual Defense Pact, he charged it gave former dictator Fulgencio Batista authorization to use U.S. military forces against Cubans. Then ripping the document in two, Castro shouted "By sovereign will of the Cuban people this military treaty between the United States and Cuba which cost so much blood is annulled."

His action in effect pulled Cuba out of the 1947 Rio de Janeiro Treaty binding the hemisphere nations to mutual defense in case of outside attack.

FBI Director Calls Safety Program Threat, Inadequate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Carnage on the highways during the Labor Day weekend offers stark testimony to the inadequacy of the nation's safety program, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today.

He decried soft punishments for drunk or reckless drivers and asked why anyone should feel compassion for them.

Hoover said in an article in the FBI law enforcement bulletin that in some states drunk driving is classed as a simple misdemeanor, involving a light penalty and no suspension of the driving privilege.

"It would appear just as logical," he added, "to free a crazed man who had been firing a gun on a crowded street and return his weapon to him.

"Two of the greatest dangers on our roads are the drunken and reckless drivers. Why should any one feel compassion for them? Their actions show as much disregard for law and order as do the acts of a burglar who follows a carefully laid plan to steal in the night. Also, in many instances, they are a far greater threat to human safety.

"Just as through research and positive action we have isolated and conquered the germs which cause many dread diseases, so can we remove the slaughterers who litter our highways with broken and battred bodies. But it cannot be done by showing pity or offering excuses for those who who wantonly violate the basic rules of traffic safety."

BWT Joins Transporters; Go on Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen called a strike today against three subsidiary railroads of U.S. Steel Corp. in a contract dispute.

Last-ditch negotiations failed to bring an agreement as the strike deadline of 6:30 a.m. rolled by.

Quentin Gabriel, vice president of the BRT, said "we seemed to have reached an impasse. The strike is officially on."

The negotiations were recessed until 8:30 p.m.

Carriers involved are the Lorain Terminal Railroad, Lorain, Ohio; the McKeesport Connecting Railroad, McKeesport, Pa.; and the Donora and Southern Railroad, Donora, Pa. A fourth U.S. Steel railroad is threatened with a strike.

There was no indication how many workers might be affected by the walkout. Specific issues in the dispute were not revealed.

A U.S. spokesman said picketing by the BRT was light and no one tried to stop production workers—members of the United Steelworkers Union—as they entered the gates on the 7 a.m. shift.

The plant will not be seriously affected, the spokesman said, unless USW members, some 9,000 strong, honor the picket lines. Directly affected are the "hot operations" — blast furnaces, open hearth, Bessemer and coke facilities served by the railroad. These probably will be able to operate through today, the spokesman said.

A strike against the Newburgh and South Shore Line in Cleveland is scheduled for Sunday morning.

The railroads serve U.S. Steel plants in their respective areas, hauling raw materials and other supplies.

Friday the BRT struck the Union Railroad, another U.S. Steel subsidiary, which serves five company plants in the Pittsburgh area.

This railroad already had been shut down since Aug. 18 by a strike of 1,150 non-operating employes represented by the United Steelworkers Union.

Cuba Turns the Tide for Peiping

Reds Have Been Accepted All Over

TOKYO (AP)—Red China's entry into the Americas, by way of Fidel Castro's Cuba, turns the Peiping regime into a truly global power a scant 10 years after it came into existence.

Despite persistent opposition from the United States, Mao Tze-Tung's Chinese government now can boast that it has been accepted in virtually every corner of the earth.

Its embassies exist in countries of widely varying political, ideological and religious hue. They are in the non-Communist Moslem Middle East, Hindu India, Hebrew Israel, Protestant Scandinavia and now soon will be in Catholic Cuba.

But it is not satisfied with this. In recent weeks, it has hastened to recognize a succession of newly independent African states.

And, it can be expected to use its new Cuban base to exploit further infiltration of Latin America which once formed a solid bloc against its admission to the United Nations.

Castros' recognition brings Mao's agents within a few hours of the mainland of the United States which Peiping almost daily denounces as "a vicious imperialist' 'and regards as its arch enemy.

Mao achieved this extraordinary diplomatic coup by throwing his full support behind Castro a few days before he came to power on Jan. 1, 1959. He has since kept up a continuous propaganda campaign of praise and adulation for the Castro regime coupled with bitter denunciation of U.S. "imperialism' in Cuba.

U. S. Olympic Athletes Rally After 'Black Thursday'

Track Men Grab 3 More Gold Medals

Russia's Lead Cut to 29½ Points; Basketball Squads Tangle Tonight

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Writer

ROME (AP)—The United States sent all of its entries speeding into the second round of the men's 110-meter hurdles and 400-meter run and qualified two of its three entries in the women's discus today as the Olympic Games entered their seventh full day of competition.

While Uncle Sam's athletes continued their determined comeback bid in track and field, where they collected three gold medals Friday, his rowers were set in five of the day's seven finals on the blue waters of Lake Albano.

Navy's eight-oar crew faced the biggest challenge, after battling back through the repechages (second-chance heats) to make the finals in a quest for the ninth consecutive U.S. gold medal in that event.

Willie May, the chunky Chicagoan who three times was Big Ten champion at Indiana, led the high hurdle qualifiers in the elimination heats with a time of 14 seconds flat. Defending champion Lee Calhoun, Gary, Ind., and Hayes Jones, Pontiac, Mich., also breezed into the second round. All were heat winners.

Jack Yerman, Woodland, Calif.; Earl Young, San Fernando, Calif.; and Otis Davis, Los Angeles, just as easily moved into the second round of the 400 meters.

In the women's discus, defending champion Olga Connolly of Santa Monica, Calif., and Mrs. Earlene Brown of Los Angeles, Friday's bronze medal winner in the shot put, qualified for Monday's final on their second tosses. But Pamela Kurrell of San Francisco failed to reach the qualifying distance of 154 feet, 2½ inches.

All three Russian entries, including shot put champion Tamara Press, qualified for the discus, which was won by Mrs. Connolly at Melbourne in 1956 when she was Olga Pfikotova of Czechoslovakia.

It was right after those Melbourne games that she marred Harold Connolly, who defends his hammer gold medal this afternoon.

Eyes On Ray Norton

While there were 14 final events on the day's program, the track and field interest was on the men's 200-meter dash, where Ray Norton of Oakland, Calif., led a Yank trio into the semis, which preceded this afternoon's finals.

It was Norton who felt the full frustration of the U.S. failure on Black Thursday, when Germany's Armin Hary cracked America's monopoly in the 100-meter dash, and world record holder John Thomas was upset in the high jump.

Norton finished dead last in the century final.

Another top attraction on the day's program is the semifinal round run-in between the United States and Russia in basketball. This will be the first meeting between the two teams, who already have qualified for the final round.

A bristling battle for team honors between the Americans and Russians plus scandals in the wrestling and boxing fired the 1960 Olympic Games to a new pitch on Friday.

U.S. track and field and swimming stars pulled Uncle Sam up to 240 team points in the unofficial race.

The Russians, deep in long distance running, gymnastics, and other sports Americans find unimportant, were having a hard time keeping their lead. They had 269½ points and the margin was now only the equivalent of one gold, one silver and one bronze medal, wth an odd half point thrown in.

In the medal race the Soviets had 15 golds, five silvers and nine bronze. The Americans had 13 golds, 11 silvers and nine bronze. Surprising Germany was an uncontested third with 158 points based on five golds, 12 silvers and five bronzes.

In swimming, Bob Webster won the platform diving, edging out teammate Gary Tobian.

The American women's 400-meter medly relay team set a world record of 4:14.1 for its gold medal and Mike Troy, Indianapolis, Indiana butterfly wizard, broke his own world mark with a 2:12.8 triumph in the 200 meter finals.

During the day the American forces racked up three gold medals in swimming and three in track and field. The Russians picked up only two track gold medals, the women's shot put and the men's 20,000 meter walk.

In the great Olympic stadium, the American track and field team put on an impressive display.

Ralph Boston, who cracked Jesse Owens' 1936 broad jump mark twice before this year, did it again in winning the men's broad jump. He leaped 26-7¾, as against Owens' 26-5⅜.

Bo Roberson, Fort Lee, Va., grabbed the silver with another record breaking 26-7⅜.

Glen Davis, world record holder of the 400 meter hurdles, proved his right to it by capturing the event just a fraction short of his record. And in this event, the Americans had it one-two-three with Cliff Cushman second and Dick Howard third.

Meanwhile, the unbeaten U.S. basketball stars coasted toward what now looks like a certain triumph the way they are playing. They overwhelmed Uruguay, 108-50, for their fifth in a row as a warmup for their Saturday night game against Russia.

Wrestling Scandal Rocks Olympic Games

ROME (AP) — Yugoslavia jumped angrily today into the wrestling scandal rocking the Olympic games.

It charged the Soviet Union and Bulgaria with immorality in sports and an "overt fix" of a wrestling match which, Belgrade said, cost the Yugoslavs a first place gold medal.

Simultaneously, the Olympics reeled under a boxing scandal. Fifteen of the 30 ring referees and judges were fired in the aftermath of an incident with cold war overtones. It stemmed from protests over a boxing decision awarding a fight to a Soviet over a Briton who appeared to most ringsiders to have clearly won.

From Titos' Belgrade—long at odds with Moscow over what brand of communism to follow—came reports that Yugoslav sports fans were indignant over the alleged wrestling fix.

Politika, biggest Yugoslav newspaper, said "something that is immoral in sport' 'happened in the match between Russian wrestler Aitandil Koridze and Bulgaria' Dimitro Stoyanov.

The Bulgarian, Politika said, "voluntarily allowed" 't'he Soviet to beat him—thus helping the Soviet wrestler win the gold medal.

The newspaper called the incident "the first scandal" of the Olympics and an "overt fix up."

The Belgrade press cheered the Yugoslav wrestler involved, Branco Martinovic. Papers carried summaries of his life and said that he wrestled with an injured rib which made his accomplishment in winning the second place silver medal all the more noteworthy.

In Rome itself, the International Amateur Wrestling Federation announced after a lengthy meeting that there was a "'suspicion of collusion' 'between the Russian and the Bulgarian, competing in the Greco-Roman class.

President Roger Coulon, of the International Wrestling Federation gave this explanation of why the Russian was allowed to keep his first place medal:

"The suspicion of collusion is not proof of collusion. The Russian wrestled to win. He also defeated the second placed man (the Yugoslav). In justice, we cannot take away his (the Russian's) medal.'

In boxing, A. Gillardi, an Italian member of the judging panel of the International Amateur Boxing Association, said the shakeup in judges and referees was the result of numerous protests from various nations.

A British boxing official threatened to pull out his team as a result of the decision which favored Oleg Grigoriev of Russia over Francis Taylor of Britain.

AT LAST — After years of ups and downs, Rocky Nelson this year finally blossomed out as a stickout first baseman and clean-up hitter for the pennant-bound Pirates.

NEW "FASTEST HUMAN" — Germany's Arim Hary, left, pounds across the finish line of the Olympic 100-meter dash to strip the U.S. of the "fastest human" title after 28 years. In a desperate bid at the line, Dave Sime, right, of Durham, N.C., lunged and sprawled on the ground.

Kansas City Is Victim

Homers by 'K' Boys Lead Tribe to 6-2 Win

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Cleveland Indians made it 11 in a row over the cellar-dwelling Kansas City Athletics Friday night, capturing a 6-2 decision. Two-run homers by Harvey Kuenn and Marty Keough were the big blows as Bobby Locke (2-4) earned the victory. He permitted only one earned run in eight innings before tiring.

Johnny Klippstein pitched the ninth and gave up a single and a walk, but escaped further trouble by making Bill Tuttle bounce into a force play.

Kuenn's homer broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning. The Indians added another pair of runs in the ninth on pnch-hitter Bob Hale's double. The losing pitcher was Dick Hall (7-11), who went the distance for Kansas City and gave up eight hits. The Athletics had 10 safeties.

Kansas City scored a run in the first inning, but Locke got off easy by getting Andy Carey to hit into a double play with the bases loaded.

That first run was unearned. Locke's own throwing error, plus two infield scratch hits, produced the tainted tally. With Ken Hamlin on first by way of an infield single, Bill Tuttle bounced to Locke. The Pitcher whirled around to start a double play. But instead of throwing to Woodie Held on the bag, Locke threw to Ken Aspromonte who was backing up the play.

That put two on and none out. An infield single by Norm Siebern eventually permitted the run to cross. The Indians went in front 2-1 in the fourth inning on Vic Power's double to left center and the home run by Keough over the distant right field wall.

A double by Bob Johnson, who collected three hits, and an infield single by Tuttle tied the score for the A's in the seventh frame.

But Cleveland bounced right back in the eighth. Aspromonte beat out a single to deep short. Then, with two out, Kuenn cracked his ninth homer of the campaign, a shot over the left field wall.

The Indians added their final two runs in the ninth on a bunt single by Woodie Held, an intentional walk to John Romano and Hale's two-out double.

Lefthander Jack Harshman (1-4) drew tonight's mound assignment for Cleveland. Opposing him will be Don Larsen (1-10), the pitcher of perfect no-hit world series fame. Larsen has lost to the Indians nine straight times while pitching for three different clubs.

Mount Union Football Squad Sets .500 Season as Goal

ALLIANCE — Mount Union College has opened football practice with the goal of a .500 season which it hasn't recorded since 1953.

Coach Duke Barret rates his Raider squad as probably the youngest in the Ohio Conference. Three seniors and five juniors will lead 20 sophomores and 29 freshmen.

Last year Mount had a 2-7 overall and 2-6 conference mark but dropped three games that could have gone its way with breaks.

However, 15 lettermen are back. Barret had more veterans in his first season as head coach, 1956, but they were single-wing performers unfamiliar with Barret's split-T.

Returning at the ends are Glenn Abel (Pittsburgh) Jim Luteran (Youngstown Rayen), and Norm Chervany (Boardman), while Paul Welch (Salem), Bob Gilchrist (Ashtabula), and George Daily (Salem) are at the tackles.

John Arbie (Youngstown Woodrow Wilson), John Ifantiedes (Canton McKinley), and Bill Hamley (Youngstown Rayen) are back at the guards, with Virg Stroia (Canton Lincoln) at center.

Larry Burkert (Poland) is at fullback, with Bob Hutton (Salem), Kent Smith (Canton Lehman), Benny Heilman (Whitehouse), and Ralph Roberts (Austintown Fitch), who was 10th in conference rushing, at the halfbacks.

Burkert and Gilchrist are letter-winning seniors, Hutton, Arbie, Stroia, and Welch are juniors, and the others are sophomores.

A weak spot is quarterback where Bill Davis held command four years. Smith is slated to get a trial at that spot with other non-letterman.

The Raiders are snapping through twice-a-day drills through next week. School opens the 14th, but freshmen have an orientation period starting the 11th.

Mount's schedule follows:

Sept. 24	Akron (N)	A
Oct. 1	Marietta (N)	H
Oct. 8	Wooster	A
Oct. 15	Ohio Wesleyan Homecoming	H
Oct. 22	Denison	A

Shaffer Ford's Fats Katich Hurls No-Hitter Against Unionport

Youngstown Skyway Is Victor; 17 Games Carded in Next 3 Days

Fats Katich, the flamethrowing import from Midland, Pa., hurled the first no-hitter of the 1960 Salem Invitational Softball Tournament as Shaffer Ford of Salem swamped Unionport, 8-0, Friday night at Kelley Field.

Charlie Bushman of Youngstown Skyway Tavern nearly duplicated Katich's sterling performance in the other game last night by hurling a one-hit, 8-0 victory over Akron 700 Lounge.

Katich fanned 17 batters and allowed only three base runners. He gave up two walks and hit a batter. Unionport was helpless at the plate against Katich and looked almost as bad on defense, committing eight erros.

Shaffer's scored two runs in the opening innng on a pair of walks ad two erros. The local outfit took advantage of more loose fielding to chase home six more runs in the seventh frame. Jack Bruderly climaxed the rally with a two base hit. The only other safe blow in the inning was a single by Bruce Feicht.

Unionport became the fifth team eliminated from the tourney. Twenty-seven clubs are still in the running. Shaffer Ford is 2-1 in the double elmination affair.

A third inning double by Center Fielder Rizzo was the blow that spoiled Bushman's no-hitter. The lanky hurler, who many opponents insist throws sidearm, struck out 11 and walked three. Skyway collected only three hits off the offerings of Jack Evans and Leroy Peoples. Akron 700 Lounge committed six erros which allowed Skyway to build up a 7-0 lead in the first two innings.

Braves Gain Half Game on Bucs

Pappas Shuts Out Yankees on 3 Hits

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"This is a good ball club, and if you men do not know it now, you're likely to find it out by Sunday.' '

These quotes belong to Casey Stengel. This note of warning was part of a speech made by the New York manager to his Yankee players before Friday night's game in Baltimore.

Casey was right about the Orioles, and his players don't have to wait until Sunday. They saw first hand just how good those Orioles are. With a crowd of 44,518 roaring approvingly, Paul Richards' Baby Birds won the opener of the vital three-game series, 5-0, extending their winning streak to five straight.

Milt Pappas, Baltimore's 21-year-old flame thrower, allowed the Yankees only three hits—all singles—and permitted only one runner to reach second.

The victory left the Orioles only three percentage points behind the league leading Yankees.

Chicago's third place White Sox defeated Detroit 7-5, Cleveland conquered Kansas City 6-2 and Washington swept a twi-night double-header from Boston 5-1 and 3-2.

Milwaukee's second place Braves kept their slim National League pennant hopes alive with a 9-6 triumph over Cincinnati. That pulled them within 6½ games of the first place Pittsburgh Pirates, who were idle. Chicago Cubs thrashed St. Louis, 10-4, and San Francisco shaded Los Angeles 4-3.

Baltimore gained revenge on an old nemesis, Whitey Ford, getting six of its eight hits off the southpaw who had beaten the Orioles in four of five decisions this season. Walt Dropo and Brooks Robinson each had two hits, Dropo contributing a home run. It was Pappas' 13th victory against eight defeats.

Pinch - hitter Earl Averill's bases loaded single in the eighth inning broke up a 5-5 tie and set up the White Sox victory which lifted them within three games of the Yankees. Gerry Staley, in relief, was credited with his 12th triumph. Herb Score, who started for Chicago, was knocked out of the box in the first inning by the Tigers.

Jim Lemon raised his season home run total to 33 with a four bagger in each game in Washington's double victory at Boston. His second homer of the night, with one on in the eighth of the nightcap, overcame a 2-1 Boston lead.

A pair of young righthanders, Don Lee and Ted Sadowski, posted the victories.

Questions and Answers

Q—Why do hogs like to wriggle in mud?

A—Because they are thick-skinned animals, wriggling in mud helps them to keep cool and removes extra oil on their skins.

Q—What great achievement in chemistry was recently reported?

A—Chlorophyll — nature's green wonder chemical—has been synthetically produced for the first time.

TO CLOSE COUNTY HOME

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Erie county commissioners have decided to discontinue use of the County Children's Home, a $194,000 property. The Child Welfare Board recommended the closing because only eight children remain in the home. Increased placement in foster homes has caused population in the county institution to dwindle.

Lodge Opens Campaign In Resort Area

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge, leaving the austere dignity of the United Nations behind him, turned to the rough-and-tumble campaign trail today.

The Republican vice presidential nominee set his opening sights on the famed Catskill Mountains resort area, several hours drive from here and much favored by New Yorkers as a summer haven.

Today's tour called for the former U.N. ambassador to fly out of New York City in the company of his wife, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and State Atty. Gen. Louis Lefkowitz.

On tap was a luncheon stop at Grossinger's, a resort hotel so elaborate it's a community in itself, with motorcade visits to several other communities, winding up at Middletown.

For Lodge, it was the kickoff to a hurly-burly campaign journey.

He'll be traveling until election day, and a far cry from the quiet diplomatic amenities of U.N. headquarters. He'll round out the Labor Day weekend with a breakfast meeting in Manhattan Monday topped off with a helicopter hop to nearby Jones Beach, Rockaway Beach and Coney Island.

Lodge officially closed out his U.N. term Friday night. He had served seven years, seven months and 10 days as his nation's representative.

Ike, Children Enjoy Vacation On the Water

LEONARDTOWN, Md. (AP) — President Eisenhower, cruising the Potomac River this Labor Day weekend, promised his grandchildren a chance to swim, water ski and fish today.

The President and the four youngsters started their holiday late Friday with a helicopter flight from the White House grounds to the Naval Weapons Laboratory pier at Dahlgren, Va., about 50 miles south of Washington.

The party included the children's parents, Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, Mamie Moore, a young niece of the President and Peggy Aurand, daughter of the chief executive's naval aide, Capt. E. P. Aurand. The President's wife did not make the trip.

At Dahlgren at 6 p.m. the group transferred from helicopters to Eisenhowers' 92-foot cabin cruiser, the Barbara Anne, and a 63-foot sister vessel, the Susie E. The sleek cruisers, owned and operated by the Navy, are named for granddaughters of the President.

On the cruise in addition to grandchildren Barbara Anne, 11, and Susan, 8, are David, 12, and Mary Jane, 4.

In a festive mood, the President and his party traveled about 25 miles south of the Potomac to sheltered Breon Bay, and anchored just off historic Leonardtown for the night.

The President slept aboard the Barbara Anne. The others were berthed aboard the Susie E.

Plans for today were to cruise up and down the 25-mile stretch between Dahlgren and Leonardtown. The Navy said there would be opportunity for fishing, swimming and water skiing.

Return to Washington is scheduled for Sunday evening or sometime Monday, Labor Day.
